Why the Cayman Islands is the ideal jurisdiction for your aviation services business

With so much uncertainty in the world, it's reassuring to know there is a place where aviation companies from across the globe can enjoy a safe, secure and appropriately regulated environment to develop and grow their businesses. The politically and economically stable Cayman Islands is the ideal jurisdiction for product development, business growth and asset protection. This tax-neutral British Overseas Territory provides the strength of British Law and IP protection, and is strategically located just one hour from Miami, three hours from New York, and has multiple direct flights to major US cities and London.

The spirit of entrepreneurship prevails here and Cayman's pro-business Government has ensured the environment is right for you to succeed, by not penalizing success with excessive taxation and over-regulation. They have put in place very appealing concessions, through a Special Economic Zone that makes it cost-effective and time-efficient to set up and operate your international business from here. The jurisdiction is well-managed and has attracted major financial institutions, leading aviation attorneys and accounting firms and there's a sophisticated business and IT infrastructure to support your business. Cayman offers a very high standard of living, has excellent schools and medical facilities and there is every kind of dining, sporting and leisure activity available here.

The Civil Aviation Authority of the Cayman Islands (CAACI)

The Civil Aviation Authority of the Cayman Islands (CAACI) is the statutory organization responsible for the safety/technical and economic regulatory oversight of the aviation industry throughout the Cayman Islands. Our Cayman Islands Aircraft Register is globally recognised as a reputable registry of choice for many aircraft owners, financiers, management companies, attorneys and other discerning decision makers in the competitive aviation industry. Stringent standards and a mandate for absolute safety compliance guide our oversight of Cayman registered aircraft since the inception of the Registry over 50 years ago.

The CAACI has a well-established reputation as a credible aviation regulator and custodian of a world-class aircraft register. The creation of the CMASP further enhances opportunities for commercial air transport operations to be established in the Cayman Islands, as it provides alternative means for Air Operator's Certificate (AOC) holders to have their principal place of business in the territory.

The CEC team takes care of everything and makes it easy!

Setting up an aviation business in a new country can be daunting, but having brought over 225 companies from across the globe to set up in CEC, we have thought of everything to make it as easy and seamless as possible. Cayman Enterprise City is a one stop shop and our experienced and efficient Client Experience team will guide you every step of the way and can introduce you to lawyers, accountants, tax advisors and bankers so you get the right advice and support you need.
